BOTANISCHER GARTEN ZU HAMBURG.

Botanischer Garten zu Hamburg

den 10ten July 1837.

Dear Sir!

Your kind letter of the 15th May came duly to hand. Though I should be infinitely glad if I had the joy to see You in our town, yet I dare to hope it as the preparations towards the expedition for the South-Seas will I fear prevent the intended previous voyage. As to the said expedition allow me to congratulate You about your partaking the same and accept my most heartfelt wishes for Yourself. You kindly say, that You will remember of me concerning the Hepaticae, allow me also to claim the like bounty for another family, the Algae, the examination of both which I shall hereafter undertake most ready if You will be pleased to trust me with them.

The ship „Howard" is arrived but she brought nothing at all for me. Of this I would not fail to inform You without delay, as You have named several objects in Your letter to be forwarded that may which are perhaps still left in New-York. Except Your letter I have received nothing, neither coming from You nor from Dr Torrey.

Mr Kunth's Cyperaceae have been just published and the next conveyance will bring them to You from

Dear Sir

Your most obedient and faithfull
